India's Manufacturing Clusters - The China+1 Advantage

India's manufacturing ecosystem is built on specialized clusters that combine centuries-old craftsmanship with modern production capabilities. As companies diversify their sourcing strategies beyond China, India emerges as a strong alternative under the 'China+1' model. These clusters not only provide scale and variety but also ensure competitive pricing, compliance, and innovation.

Why India as China+1?

Diverse, specialized clusters with global export experience.

Heritage craftsmanship

blended with modern manufacturing practices.

Strong compliance with international certifications and standards.

Competitive cost structures with lower risks compared to single-country sourcing.
